In three comprehensive sessions, starting with the Introduction on October 10th, followed by two additional sessions in November, Tomlin will delve into the essential aspects of Liability Insurance. In the first session, he will describe numerous liability incidents, and together with the participants, discuss which liability insurance policy best fits each event. It's crucial to understand that there is no one-size-fits-all liability policy.

The second session will provide in-depth insights into Public Liability for Commercial Risks, Auto Liability, Employers Liability, and Homeowners Liability. In the third session, Tomlin will focus on less common coverages, such as Professional Liability, Cyber Liability, Directors & Officers Liability, Marine Liability, and Construction Liability.

Tomlin's approach is grounded in practical experience, moving beyond the technicalities of policy wordings. The goal is to equip participants with a profound understanding of the key issues and specific policies, including any necessary extensions, required for comprehensive coverage.
